Talented trainer, manager, new media specialist and technology generalist

Posted June 5, 2007

Get stuff done! Self-taught knowledge-worker with 15+ years experience at major Christian ministries-including Christianity Today International. Served as tech support (helpdesk & desktop), project manager, Webmaster, content producer, department manager, new product developer, writer, consultant and multimedia editor. Accomplished speaker, preacher, trainer and teacher. While skilled with technology, true passion is for discipling and equipping the Church. Conference presenter at Technologies for Worship, Evangelical Christian Publisher's Association-and others-scheduled presenter at this year's Internet Ministry conference. Preached at several churches by invitation, guest on multiple radio programs, and guest-by-phone on MSNBC's "The Most." Am interested in full-time or contract work involving teaching, preaching, writing, editing, product management, multimedia editing, Web content, blogging, podcasting, or anything! Willing to relocate for the right job. See site for endorsements.
